OP SHOP

Hit the streets and loop around six of our op shops, all within walking distance of each other. You're bound to find something you like!

START ON MAIN STREET

RED CROSS SHOP

Supported by the likes of Zara, Rodd and Gunn, Country Road and David Jones, the Red Cross shop in Upper Hutt is known for stocking new end-of-season clothing.

"Great for second hand shopping, has new things too!" — Debbie Snowden

SPCA OP SHOP

Perfect for animal lovers, all the money spent here goes towards helping animals in need. Stocking everything from clothing to jewellery, kitchenware, linen, toys, furniture and things for your pets.

"So cute, found some treasures here."
— Sophie Barrey

SALVATION ARMY FAMILY STORE

On Queen Street you'll find the Salvation Army bustling with happy customers hunting for a bargain. Even better, all profits go towards helping the Upper Hutt Community.

"Always a lovely, friendly atmosphere whenever I go here! Always great bargains and awesome treasures to be found." — Kristina Key

TE OMANGA HOSPICE SHOP

Look good and feel good after shopping at Te Omanga Hospice. Priding themselves on top quality goods, buying from Te Omanga Hospice helps them to continue to provide free palliative care in our community.

"This is the cleanest and most well-presented second-hand store I've ever visited. The staff are helpful and friendly and donations are received gratefully. It's well worth a visit."
— Nicole O'Connor

WESLEY THRIFT SHOP

It's often the little stores you stumble upon that you find the best bargains. The Wesley Thrift Shop is tucked away on Queen Street and is home to an abundance of second hand goods.

"A great little Thrift Shop with a huge variety of items. I definitely recommend coming and checking these guys out."
— Eddie Well

SAVEMART

Slightly outside of the city centre but well worth the visit. Conveniently located near Brewtown for a bevvv.

"This is a second hand dream store. Open and well laid out, all sizes, all colours. If you're looking for a designer look, or vintage, or even something different from the copy and paste fashion in mainstream stores come here. Everything is fairly priced and there are some surprise gems to find. Friendly helpful staff and biodegradable plastic bags used."
— Riley Mackey

EAT & DRINK

Feeling peckish during your sustainable shopping adventure?

TRICKY'S SANDWICH CO.

In need of a good coffee? By good we mean taste's good, good on the planet and good to the farmers who harvest the coffee beans. Tricky's Sandwich Co. are proud to serve Peoples Coffee alongside their delicious sandwiches. Peoples Coffee are a B Certified company, their coffee is organic and Tricky's pair Zany Zeus organic milk to go with it.

Tricky's also use heaps of sustainable packaging products in store (paper straws, metal straws, wax paper, cardboard salad containers and wooden takeaway forks).

TINA'S DUMPLINGS

Tina's dumplings are arguably the best in the Wellington region! Handmade right here in Upper Hutt from natural ingredients and without the use of preservatives, MSG, or artificial colours or flavours. They are also free from nuts and dairy products, and available in gluten-free options as well.

CAMERON HARRISON BUTCHERY & DELICATESSEN

Cameron Harrison is Upper Hutt's very own butchery and delicatessen, doing everything they can to lessen their impact on the planet from stocking local produce to encouraging customers to bring in their own containers. Pop in store to see their wide variety of products including their award winning ham, organic milk (in re-usable glass bottles), fresh breads, condiments and signature pies.

KERERŪ BREWING

Needing an afternoon bevvy? Committed to the planet, Kererū Brewing use corn-based tasting cups that biodegrade quickly, source their ingredients locally where possible and use sustainable energy. Their co-generation heat recovery system creates free hot water for them year round instead of sending the waste heat into the sky. Not into beer? They also do amazing food, visit KūKū Restaurant.
